Network Vision Statement
The social and emotional development of gifted students is integrally connected with their academic success. As the chair of the Social and Emotional Development Network, I hope to continue the work of providing information to NAGC members about how to best support the social and emotional needs of gifted learners through our network newsletter and other communication channels. I believe an active and growing network is the best way to continue supporting the social and emotional needs of gifted students. Finally, I will focus on increasing the impact of our organization and network by conducting outreach to other professionals, like school counselors and community mental health professionals.
